Research

11/2008 – 12/2008

University Of Texas Medical School, Houston, Texas

As a 3rd year medical student I worked as part of a team that analyzed TEG studies on blood samples collected during high risk surgical operations in efforts to optimally detect and manage patient coagulopathies under the leadership of UT anesthesiologist Dr. Pivalliza, MD in the Houston Medical Center.

Work Experience (Prior to Residency Training)

07/2006 – 10/2007

Memorial Hermann Hospital (medical center), Houston, Texas
Registered Nurse part-time while in my second year of medical school.

03/1992 - 10/2004

Polly Ryon Memorial Hospital, Richmond, Texas (Oak Bend Medical Center)
Registered Nurse

I was Charge Nurse in CCU on the night shift. In that role, in addition to having patients to care for myself, I made patient assignments to other staff, was responsible for the nursing care of all that unit's patients, and interfaced with various other departments and physicians concerning the transfer of patients into or out of my unit. I also had a role in staff development with regards to critical care. I helped train new critical nurses regarding the standards of care and skills required. As a staff RN, I also took the opportunity to work shifts in the emergency center, on the medical and surgical floors, and the nursery. One other role I had was as an ACLS instructor with the hospital's education department.

07/1991 - 03/1992

Allied Nursing Agency, Texas
RN specialized in ICU/CCU

I worked as a contract nurse in hospitals needing specialized nursing staff for ICU units or Emergency departments.

09/1990 - 06/1991

Memorial Southwest (MSW) Hospital, Texas
Staff RN ICU/CCU

I began employment as an RN with a three month critical care internship/preceptorship in the surgical and medical ICU's of MSW Hospital. I continued full-time work primarily in the surgical ICU. In this hospital, I had the opportunity to recover and manage the nursing care of post-op Coronary Artery Bypass Graft patients. This included serial focused physical exams, monitoring for arrhythmias and ischemia, managing patients on ventilators, and titrating various vasoactive IV drips. I also worked closely with all the staff including residents, physicians, pharmacists, dieticians, physical therapists and social workers comprising the treatment teams.

Hobbies & Interests

I maintain a keen interest in track and field, cross-county running, and cycling sporting events. I have been involved with running and cycling clubs and have had the pleasure of knowing several outstanding coaches. I am also an avid reader of mystery and fiction written by my favorite authors.
